Her sophomore EP got selected as Album of the Week at Rás 2

Icelandic media seems to be a fan of Kristin and has done interviews with her on various platforms such as Morgunblaðið, Fréttablaðið, Vísir and RÚV

Online blogs such as Grapevine, Wolf in a suit, Scandipop and Echowave magazine have also written about Kristin.

W.A.I.S.T.D. (what am I supposed to do)

On 2.April Kristin followed the release of her sophomore EP with an empowering love song. The song is a quirky and badass anthem for people that find themselves falling in love when they're used to being hurt. The song is currently at number 3 on Bylgjan's top 20 list. It had the same position on the National Broadcasting Service's top 40 list and sat on the list for 4 weeks.

Past singles

What Would I Do Without You? was released on May 8th along with a video. As well as garnering interest from international listeners the song reached a peak at number 5 on National broadcast's top 40 list. It also sat at number 36 on K100's list which takes in both radio play and streams from Spotify.

Secret was released on the 5th of July and has gained a lot of international interest. It landed on big editorial Spotify playlists such as New Music Friday Sweden, Norway and Iceland as well as being on the “Indie highlights” playlist and a popular Norwegian playlist “Smil!”. The song is Kristin's biggest song in terms of streams, with over 100.000 streams!

Past singles

Type landed on New Music Friday Iceland and Sweden and other editorial spotify playlists as well as getting plays on local radio. The laid back single also got radio plays in Germany and the Faroe Islands

FUCKBOYS, the most anticipated single of the album gathered a lot of attention from Icelandic media, specifically due to it's music video. Kristin's engaged listeners helped get the song to the amount of streams it is at today. The song was featured on Grapevine's September playlist.

Breakup Blues is Kristin's second EP but much more mature, personal and poppy than her former EP "Freckles". Containing the singles "FUCKBOYS" and "What Would I Do Without You?" the EP deals with various emotions through the trauma of heartbreak and follows her on a journey to self acceptance and finding happiness through all the sadness.
